

"I HAD THE MOST FUN BEING WITH [MY TEAMMATES] EVERY DAY, AND I'M GOING TO MISS IT."

MEET JALEN GAUDET

—Interviewed by Jack Dickens

What do you do in your free time?

There's a number of things that I enjoy doing. I spend time with friends and family. I tend to work out, whether I'm just at the rec center or down on the field, especially during the off-season. I help watch kids for my family and friends as well. I also spend a good amount of time doing schoolwork.

Why did you start playing football?

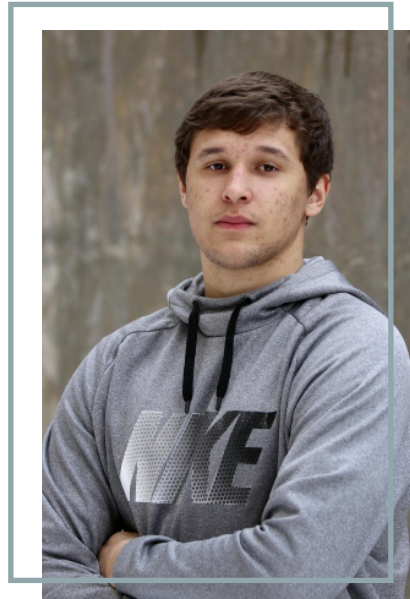

I started watching football around third grade. That's when I went to my first Iowa football game. That year, I spent a lot of time watching games and learning about the game with my dad. Ever since, I have loved watching and playing. I will be playing football in the future, and hopefully it can take me a long way in life.

What kind of connection do you have with your teammates?

The connection with my teammates was amazing! We were together all through the summer and the season. There was really never a time when we weren't having a good time. When something happened on the field, it was an awesome thing to see everyone on the sideline and the guys on the field celebrate. I had the most fun being with them every day, and I'm going to miss it.

How has your family supported you throughout your life?

My family has always been supportive of me, and I couldn't be more thankful. They help me with whatever I need for school and provide help if I need it. They give me feedback and encourage me to do better and work hard for the things that I want in life. The same thing for sports as well. They were always in the stands to support me. There's no better feeling to me than when the people you love most are supporting and watching you do one of the things you love most.
