

What's Trending

1. Hydro Flasks are the water bottle of choice for students.
2. Julia Dietsch shows her favorite dance move, the woah, for a video.
3. Junior Reagan Light's profile on the very popular app TikTok.
4. Sneakers, like these Adidas ones are a regular sight at MVHS.
5. Many wrists at MVHS don colorful beaded bracelets.

Heard Around MVHS...

thank u, next

ABBY DAVIDSON '19

This ain't it chief

MADDIE SHULTZ '20

That's a mood.

QUINN ALLES '21

That's the tea sis

GEORGIA PIERCE '22

'90s Fashion Makes a Comeback

Above Left: Senior Kelsey Kosman poses in her '90s inspired outfit. Photo by Lillie Hawker.

Left: Sophomore Kayla Wallace strikes a pose in an outfit inspired by the fashion trends of the 1990s. Photo by Lillie Hawker

W

What items do you look for when you go thrift shopping?

30 students surveyed

4.

5.

Diamond in the Rough

By Lillie Hawker

Bracelets Explosion

Freshman Julissa Govea and Lily Brown create friendship bracelets in the hallway before school starts. Making bracelets is a growing trend at MVHS. Photo by Lillie Hawker

Thrifting is a big trend for MVHS students

Thrift shopping has become one of the main ways teens get their clothes. In a time where retro fashion trends are coming back, it is a great way to find articles of clothing that are in and affordable. The biggest draw to thrift shopping is its affordability. Buying a shirt from Goodwill or Salvation Army is a lot cheaper than buying the same shirt at store like American Eagle. "I like getting name brand clothes for a cheap price because then I can spend less money on more clothes," said junior Paige Beck.

Of course that's not the only draw to thrifting. "I like to go out and try to find things that only seem like my own style," said junior Amaya Mahoney, "I have found a lot of big name brand clothing like Nike and Under Armour at really cheap price. I've also found things that people absolutely love and they ask where I got it."

For some, like Mahoney, it is a great way to find their own unique style, as the clothing options are of a wider range than at retail or department stores. Thrift shopping gives them a better outlet of expressing themselves through their clothes. And one never knows what they might find.

"I think thrift shops have hidden treasures you just have to be willing to look for them," said junior Caroline See. That challenge of finding that perfect thing can be fun for some.

"I like to thrift shop because you can always find unique things. And shopping in department stores can be so organized, I like the challenge of having to search for the perfect thing you didn't know you needed," said senior Abby Davidson, "Like when I got my UND sweatshirt from Goodwill. I had been there for about an hour when I found it. At the time I didn't need any new sweatshirts but I couldn't convince myself to put it back and now that I have it it's my lucky sweatshirt and to this day is my greatest find."

An overwhelming majority of MVHS students love to go thrift shopping. It is a big trend and it doesn't look like it will be going away anytime soon.

Cael Crawford is ready to compete with his teammate Jalen McNeal at the Iowa Chill Fortnite Tournament Feb. 9. The Grand View University Feb. 9. The juniors placed 10th in the tournament out of 128 teams. Fortnite continues to be a top game for MVHS students.

Listening to and creating podcasts is trending in June, Nolan Brand and Reagan Light interviewed soccer players ahead of their regional game in the first podcast for The Mustang Moon. Listen here: <https://themustangmoon.com/12367/>

Crazy socks are on everyone's feet. Here students show off their footwear Feb. 8 in Coach Pedersen's Mustang Strength and Speed earlybird class for a photo he posted on Twitter.

TRIM LINE

TRIM LINE