

Seniors Gustavo Smith and Ana Marquez Caballero hug as they get ready to head to the Knapp Center.

On to better things

8. Senior Elise Marshall listens to principal Sherry Poole saying her opening speech. 9. Senior choir students join their classmates in singing American Spirits. 10. Senior Eman Hagos shakes superintendent Thomas Ahart's hand before receiving her diploma. 11. Juniors Elyse Hiskey and Lily Jordan play in the orchestra during the graduation march.

[Empty rectangular box for additional information]

1. Senior Rachel Math hugs principal Sherry Poole before receiving her diploma. 2. Seniors Emily Murphy, Ethan Olson, Connor Flynn, Naezhawn Caldwell, Natalie Burns, Aidan LaBresh, Evan Stolki and Hannah Murphy pose before they head out to the Knapp Center. 3. Senior Karli Benson smiles with joy as she is about to receive her diploma. 4. Seniors Sofia Lopez and Olivia Proctor pose before graduation. 5. English teacher Nick Jackson awards senior Ana Marquez Cabellero with the Jayne Hentges Humanitarian award. 6. Senior Hannah Poortinga waves to her family showing how much she loves them. 7. Senior Dalton Davis shakes superintendent Thomas Ahart's hand before receiving his diploma.

Excerpt from Tam Cao's Speech

Classmates, today we are reflecting over the memories we had at Hoover High School. We have walked in the same halls for the past four years, and down this aisle today as a whole, but after today we all have our own lives to pursue and our own kinds of dreams to weave. There will be struggles along the way, but remember the memories we all made together, and remember that no matter where we go, we are forever a Husky family. Before ending up my speech, I hope that after this ceremony you will believe in yourself, have faith in your abilities to exceed other's expectations. Follow your heart, and chase your dreams. Holding on the amazing and sweet memories we had together, and do not let anyone put you down because everything in your life is possible, and because you are the master of your own destiny.

What are your plans after high school? "I plan on attending Morningside College and majoring in social science and secondary education," Senior JonTeria Brown

