Claim the Turf

Between the drum line cadence marked by junior Jacob Hansen, the Wildcat Marching Band Drum Line, and the stadium spotlight, senior Stephen Schroeder dashes with the Wildcat flag to spur on the crowd to keep motivating the varsity football team at half time on homecoming night as they head for a "W" over the Iowa City High School Lions. As the wind changed, so did the "DN" logo on the flag. The student section kept yelling for the flag to be reversed as they were unaware of how and why it was backwards. "The energy was great; we were excited for homecoming! I gave Stephen the flag to go run across the track to get the crowd hyped," said senior Ashley Thompson. According to Thompson, the idea behind the flag is for the logo to be seen correctly by the opponent's side of the field as the Wildcats claim their territory and pride.

Making More Memories

To capture not only nature, but also the yearbook shirt design, senior Ariana Hill poses by the creek. "As one of the senior editors, yearbook has always been one of my favorite activities. It's fun to see the photos and memories everyone has made and what they have to say about them," said Hill.
