

In the spirit of inclusion and acceptance, we have dedicated a section of our yearbook to the many connections made among our Spartans. This "Be connected" whole-book element showcases the different ways the students here at Pleasant Valley interact with one another and can be found at the bottom of nearly every page. The element begins by referencing a student from the page above and connecting him/her to another PV student, who then makes another connection, and on it goes. Through this process, we hoped to demonstrate how intricately linked we truly are as students, peers, teammates, family, and friends.

As Pleasant Valley grows, so do the many countctions our students make with each other. Shreya Khurjekar '19, pictured above, played clarinet with Vishnu Challa '22.

The 2018-2019 school year was filled with great memories and unforgettable people. We are reminded of all the things that Were and all the things that can be. This book is dedicated to those things. Spartans: Be successful, be inspiring, be happy, be kind, be humble. Be all the things you want to be...and most of all, be you.

Riku Hartman '22 was a homework buddy to John D'Antico '22.

John D'Antico '22 had a social studies class with Tanveer Bassi '22.
