From the main entrance to the sliver hallway, the halls of North are packed with students walking to their classes; it can be easy to be hidden inside the sea of students, but sophomore, Aime Mukiza is a student that stands out and is well-known amongst his peers.

Mukiza is someone who's always staying busy; he's in various sports and after school activities.

"I'm a part of cross country, wrestling, soccer and baseball for sports at school. I'm also involved with Science Bound, C.O.R.E. and band. And outside of school, I still wrestle and play soccer, but I also recently started CrossFit," he said.

Mukiza says it's a lot to juggle, but it's overall going to help his future. "The reason I do all of this is to best open up the most doors in life, to give me the most options. I take from Science Bound's code of conduct. Science Bound scholars are proactive, I am proactive. I don't wait for things to come to me, I seek out opportunities and make positive things happen. I've never realized how much of the Science Bound code of conduct applied to me, but that's why I do what I do," he said.
