Kalen Truong & Juan Carlos Oropeza

Juan Carlos Oropeza and Kalen Truong, juniors at North High, are both leaders of the organization called Community of Racial Equity, but better known as C.O.R.E.

"We try to teach our peers and in ourselves how to be responsible, how to be great leaders, and give an impact on the world," Truong said.

Truong has been in C.O.R.E. since his freshman year, Oropeza joined him his sophomore year seeing how the organization works and eventually becoming a leader and helping people join C.O.R.E.

Along with helping the school community at North, both Truong and Oropeza advocate for other organizations such as Upward Bound and C.O.R.E. at Central Campus. Continuing being leaders, both juniors will learn more about school and the community through being involved in organizations not only in school, but further in the future as well.
