From the beginning, senior Domique Wright has always put 110% effort into everything he does. Wright has been a varsity member of the Husky football program since sophomore year. He has been a huge contributor to the team's success on the field. Just this past season Wright pulled together many impressive statistics.

"Some of the stats I'm proud of are I received 38 passes for 594 yards, I got a couple interceptions and forced fumbles, and I also got five touchdowns," Wright said.

These statistics caught the eyes of the Iowa Western Community College football coaches, and that's when Wright's future began to fall into place. Wright signed his letter of intent to continue his education and football career at Iowa Western February 8th. He plans to transfer to a Division I school to continue after his two years. Because of his goals, Wright believed this school was a great fit for him.

"Iowa Western Campus is very Division I like, so it will prepare me for years to come. Also, other colleges said I was too small, but Iowa Western thought I would be a great fit because of my abilities," Wright said.

For any athlete playing college ball it is important to adapt to the game. The competition is bigger, better and faster. But Wright's team has supported him through everything, and they believe he can accomplish big things.

"Dom will do great in college, especially at his returning positions because he is very shifty and quick," senior Byron Jarrett said.

Wright does not limit his skills to just football. He has been a part of the school newspaper for two years. He joined because he loves to write, especially about sports. Being a part of The Challenger has impacted his life in a huge way. Wright has decided to continue his education in media studies and journalism in college.

"Mrs. Hamilton has helped me become the writer I am today, and has helped me get awards and other opportunities," Wright said.

Wright has impacted the school greatly. From making the crowd cheer at football games to catching reader's attention, he is be a name that will not be forgotten.

"Dom is one of our finest personalities," football coach William Siffin said.

Just as Wright has left his mark on the school, it has made an impact on him as well.

"Through high school, sports have helped me build better character and helped me improve my skills of time management, communication, and working with others. These will help me later in life," Wright said. "Academically, Hoover helped me prepare for college because I had the opportunity to take AP and dual-credit classes."
