Junior, Sid Sharma, has recently become a very involved student throughout high school. He is a varsity wrestler, a member of Spartan Assembly and National Honor Society, participates in IFL, and attends the meetings of Model UN club and Girls Learn International. In his freshman year of wrestling, Sharma won a few JV tournaments in hopes of winning at a varsity level. The sport has given him an opportunity to compete at an intense level and improve his work ethic as well as motivation to become a better athlete. His coach, Mr. Larsen, is constantly giving him advice that teaches Sharma to have self confidence in wrestling as well as in school. He gives thanks to coach Larsen for encouraging him to join wrestling. As far as Spartan Assembly, he was one of the biggest leaders that helped plan all events that went on in the Student Hunger Drive, leading Pleasant Valley to the third straight win. He also continues to be a big help when it comes to participating in fundraisers and organizing different school events. Sharma refers to Spartan Assembly as a family that truly represents how much can be achieved through teamwork. Being so involved throughout the school has taught him that extracurricular activities truly give him a sense of belonging with his peers and has allowed him to form new friendships. They make his whole educational experience more enjoyable because academics are not his only responsibility. Despite being so involved in school, Sharma handles both homework and all his extracurricular activities by always planning ahead and having a positive attitude even when things become stressful. When he's not doing those activities, he enjoys going to coffee shops to do homework and going shopping because it really boosts his confidence! After graduating high school, he plans on studying early childhood education and becoming a teacher.

"My ideas for majors range from marine biology to psychology to architecture. I'm still figuring out what I want to do but my dream school would definitely be the University of Notre Dame."

Caitlynn Burke '23
"I'm still not sure what I plan to do after high school. I will be going to college, yet I'm not sure which one yet. I hope to study something that involves arts or beauty, and I want to be in a sorority and maybe even continue cheerleading."

Ella Speich '21
"I hope to continue my education at Iowa State and get a degree in elementary education."
