ress pause

Track 034

During spring break, Governor Kim Reynolds made the executive decision to close all schools for 30 days because of a worldwide pandemic. As storefronts dimmed, creativity began to shine. A parade was held on March 27 throughout the district, four days after school was supposed to be back in session following spring break. Teachers decorated their cars, students lined up and made signs, and joy was brought forth in hard times.

#TogetherApart Pirate Nation kept connected during this time of social distancing with the help of social media. Twitter and Facebook posts like these showcased how staff and students spent their time.

Dr. Tony Voss @A with our faculty this morning ting again soon! I am so proud of you . 6.

Katie Glace Farwell is with Suzanne Olive

Miss Suzi is the BEST! Teachers... we are SO thankful

34 mins - #

MatthewAthena Grady Yesterday at 7:52 AM · # Another fun distraction ... Thanks to our special neighbor for letting us borrow this! (And for an adde nus, listen to him at the end of the video 😇) egradysix ikki Bergmeier @NikkiBergmeier7 • 1 ame of Uno for this morning!

> (\mathbf{M})

03:16

Junior high social studies teacher Wayne Haskovec captures the statewide lighting of home fields.

