

show choirs

WEST HIGH'S GOOD TIME COMPANY AND SHOW TIME GROUPS

Sweat, tears, and lots of hairspray. The show choirs put time and effort into each performance they do. Whether it's a practice or a competition, it's always full of hard work and emotion. Practices are every Thursday for nearly three hours. The show choirs also have occasional choreography camps that last a day. The time the group puts in is always worth it during competition season. Students are ready when they board the bus at 5 a.m. and return to it that night near midnight. The many hours away seem like seconds when they are able to do what they love with the people they care about.

HERE FOR A GOOD TIME

Ahji Walker-Garcia '20 dances along with the rest of GTC while performing at Hancher. "I decided to join show choir because I literally can't do anything else but hold a note. All my friends made it look so fun and it is," she said.

FROM THE HEART

Danielle Hribar '22 shows her skills when she sings her solo during the show choir performance at Hancher.

BASS BOOSTED

GTC member Eric Shaffer '20 sings his solo. "My favorite part of show choir is how close we all get by the end of the season. That's what I think about when I sing the ballad, how much I'm going to miss everyone," he said.

SEIZE THE DAY

Sean Kwak '22 sings his solo in "When the Day Comes." His favorite part about show choir is, "being able to see yourself and the people around you improve as you put more effort into practice," Kwak said.

eyes to the sky

JANUARY 8TH, 2020

Kara Thomas '23 and Zoe Nolte '22 raise their hands to the sky as they perform. "My favorite part about show choir is how we are all a family, and families always tell each other everything," Nolte said.

▲ Mallika Huynh '21, Katherine Yacopucci '20 and Sumner Wallace '20 look forward and sing into the crowd during their performance at Hancher Auditorium. "I think the energy of the group is the best part. Performing at competitions is like being on a whole other planet," Wallace said.

here for a good time

GAME FACE

Robert Hooks '20 smiles during a dance break in the song "Make a Move" Jan. 8. "My favorite part of this season would be growing closer to each other a group," Hooks said.

I WILL SING

Alina Davis '22 and Reagan Yamashita '22 sing at Hancher Auditorium. "Show choir combines singing and dancing and performing in front of others, which are all things I love. Show choir is also a place that really allows me to express myself in ways I can't normally do just through school. I'm able to show others what I love to do," Davis said.

all about that ballad

▲ ALL OUT
Davis Larson '20 makes the best of his senior year by going full force in the show choir performances.

▲ IN FOCUS
"My favorite part about show choir is the excitement I get from it. Performing is my favorite thing, so when I do it, it always brings a good feeling," said Tess DeGrazia '23.

▲ LIVE IN THE MOMENT
Maia DeGrazia '20 shows off what she's capable of at the GTC Hancher performance.

▲ LEAD IN
Steve Tembea '22 smiles as he takes a quick breath during the Showtime Show.