1. FROZEN HANDS Sophomore Lucas Yoder keeps warm as he films the football game for SPVG and WCTV. "My favorite aspect of SPVG is watching the games and being able to watch our teams play back and forth," said Yoder. "There's a learning curve involved in filming live events. Unlike in the studio, at games everyone is constantly moving. I think it's amazing that WCHS provides these opportunities, not just for students, but also for those who can't make it to games!" said WCTV teacher, Mrs. Stephanie Pace.

2. LATE NIGHT LIGHTS Junior Xavier Keenan spends his Friday night in the control room to record the basketball game. "My favorite part about SPVG is the conversation after we win and all the fun we get to have during it," said Keenan.

3. ZOOM BUDDIES Some of the WCTV staff gets together on Zoom to watch the Student Production Awards on April 3. While it wasn't the same as going to the actual event in Minnesota, the team made the most of the experience. "The Upper Midwest Emmys had to cancel their annual student awards show due to COVID-19. They decided to move the awards show online in hopes of still being able to give students a chance to participate in the big event. WCTV decided to take the opportunity to do a couple of the things that we would normally do that night. We would normally go out to eat before the awards show. Instead we shared pictures of dinner over texts. The awards show is normally a formal affair, so we still got dressed up for the evening and watched the awards show as a group," said WCTV technical advisor, Mr. Mark Murphy.

4. ALTERNATIVE REPORTING Yearbook Editor Harper Kopriva helps Hank Ambrose record a feature story for the Winterfest show of WCTV. "Really all it is about is trying to get a good laugh out of people, entertainment. You get so much more satisfaction at making others smile—classmates, teachers, friends, family, or whoever. If you just learn to be yourself and expand your own comfort zone, you can for sure get some laughs," said Ambrose.

5. FOCUS OF A FOX Junior Zach Mickelson, active participant of SPVG, studies the screen hard to make sure everything is working up to par. "We have so much fun hanging out before, during, and after events, and I really like that we all have that type of relationship," said Mickelson.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION Emma Stroner, Pasha Kirk, and Sarah Lindstrom record the weekly show. "My favorite part about WCTV is the teamwork that goes into it. To produce a show, everyone works together and does their part, and it's awesome to me that we all work as one to make it happen," said Stroner.
