

Do you prefer to have Powderpuff in Fall or Spring?

"Fall because more people attend."

Ashlyn Steen '22

"Spring because I looked forward to it."

Maddie Plotz '22

"I prefer having it in the fall."

Emma Rodman '21

Plan of Attack

Playing for the Sith team, junior Anna Hoffman skirts around Jedi teammates Lilly See, a sophomore, and Anna Nydegger, a senior. The junior/ freshman Siths won the Star Wars themed powderpuff game, 32-22. Postponed from the usual timing of homecoming week, the game was held April 30 when Covid restrictions began to loosen.

THE SITHS FRESHMAN-JUNIOR TEAM - Front Row: Camryn Streicher, Kenna Rollingner, Gabrielle Rubner, Anna Hoffman, Kasia Wiebel, Cecelia Manternach, Elsa Appleton. Row 2: Trenton Pitlik, Josie Niehaus, Isabelle Krob, Ashlyn Steen, Addison Gookin, Madelyn Plotz, Quinlan Denes, Ryan Naeve, Cooper Schoff, Brody Ulch. Back Row: Leo Appleton, Jenna Sprague, Peyton Simpson, Piper Price, Ashlee Elliot, Adam Deeb.

THE JEDI SOPHOMORE-SENIOR TEAM - Front Row: Coach Kean Kamerling, Dani Pitts, Sabrina Bleile, Claire Gaffney, Brooke Bausch, Anna Nydegger, Sydney Parks, Sydney Shultz, Aliya Keaton, Annalise Harp, Jorie Randall, Isabella Squiers. Row 2: Madeleine Miller, Hedy Zmolek, Isabelle Hawker, Natalie Clark, Finley McVay, Jordan Holtz, Ava Dimmer, Molly Louwagie, Rachel Axtell, Elizabeth Niehaus, Emma Rodman, Parker Whitham, Laura Swart. Back Row: Lillian See, Kameron Brand, Kyla Vaughn, Helena Holub, Amelia Hartl, Elizabeth Barns, Kia McNeal, Kaleigh Jordan.

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

Teams Take Action

1. Senior Emma Rodman acts as the holder before the kicker proceeds with the play. 2. Junior Cece Manternach lies on the ground after a fall while her team surrounds her. 3. Sophomore Kameron Brand scores a TD for the Jedi team. 4. Annalise Harp makes a tackle against Cece Manternach. 5. Henry Steine, Connor Spencer, Carson Bartelt, Jacob Russell, Mark Liberko are junior fans with light sabers. 6. Senior Sabrina Bleile runs toward the end zone with the ball.

Customer is allowed to have objects outside of the margin.

TRIM LINE

TRIM LINE

Above: Jenna Sprague carries Quinlan Denes on her shoulders after the game to celebrate the win for their junior team.

The Wins and The Losses

Above: The Siths celebrate a touchdown at the Powderpuff game on April 30.
Above: Junior Ashlyn Steen is on the ground after a tackle by senior Annalise Harp on April 30.

STAR WARS MEETS POWDERPUFF

By Alice Conroy

In years past, the students have come up with all sorts of themes for Powderpuff. All have been fun, but many can agree that this year takes the cake. This year's competition included the Jedi versus the Sith, a Star Wars classic.

"The Star Wars theme made it really fun," said senior Jedi Sabrina Bleile. "It was enjoyable for not only the players, but also the crowd that was watching."

This year's game was especially intense, possibly because the teams were making up for the lost season last year. Student coaches were really passionate about winning, even going as far to throw their fake headsets on the ground after a bad call. "The coaches being dramatic was fun, but it also got stressful after awhile," said senior Jedi Sydney Parks. "A lot of the girls were just trying to have fun, but it became really intense."

Some insisted that the intense coaches made the game more enjoyable. "The coaches being dramatic just made it more fun," said junior Sith Anna Hoffman. "It made them more involved, and seemed like they cared."

Even though it was all fun and games, the girls had enough grit to have a harsh competition. "There were quite a few touchdowns made by Anna Hoffman," said Parks, "she is so fast, I could never grab her flag in time to get a tackle."

As many touchdowns that were scored, however, a lot of participants would argue that most of the calls made by the student referees were bad. "It was brutal, the seniors were trying to sway the referees, and it was working," said junior Sith coach Owen Brase. "It didn't change the outcome, though."

Though the whole experience was fun, the majority of the students agreed that it was half-time that stole the show. From the Star Wars music being played from the booth, to the light saber fight that took place on the field, it was this that the players and crowd liked the most. "Half-time was uplifting," said Bleile. "The fight was fun, but the coaches also were giving us a pep talk, which was encouraging."

Far Above: The Jedi team poses for a picture after their loss on April 30.
Above: Senior coach Kean Kamerling gives the team a pep talk.

Customer is allowed to have objects outside of the margin.

TRIM LINE

TRIM LINE