the wheels on the VAN go round & round

One driver and 14 passengers later, sophomore Carson Less' Ram 3500 van was on the move. With the first football game of the season at Anamosa, Less saw this as the perfect opportunity to take his 21-year-old van for a trip.

Dressed to impress for the Hawaiian theme, 15 sophomores loaded up and hit the road. "The van's pretty easy to drive," Less said. "It was interesting taking it on curvy back roads, though."

Celebrating a huge win, the gang was pumped up for the ride home. With the van only getting six miles to the gallon, Less had to make a quick stop at Casey's to refill. With a full tank of gas and plenty of snacks on board, the group was ready to head home. They reminisced on funny memories from freshman year while singing to "Take Me Home, Country Roads," "The Rattlin' Bog," and "The Wheels On The Bus."

Front Row: Grant Northburg (10); Row 2: Alexa Harbach (10), Ella Cole (10), Mackenzie Kluesner (10), Cruz Timmerman (10), Maddux Lott (10), Carson Turnis (10), Peyton Aldrich (10); Back Row: Kennedy Klostermann (10), Landon Rausch (10), Connor Andregg (10), Sawyer Falck (10), Sam Niles (10).

Automobile ALIASES

"Dentley. Every time I fix my car, I somehow get another dent in it."
- Lauryn Bruggeman (10)

"Betty. It just looks like a Betty."
- Kaeleb Sickels (10)

What's the name of YOUR car?

"Eve because it's a basic suburban mom car, and I think that Eve is a good name for a suburban mom."
- Kelly Beckman (10)

With a camera in her hand and a vision in her mind, Mackenzie Kluesner (10) started her own photography business, Mack Ann Photography. Inspired by her grandma, who did photography as her side job, Kluesner was introduced to photoshoots at a young age.

Kluesner started an Instagram page in October, and it has expanded to almost 200 followers. So far, she has photographed 10 families and booked several appointments. The business started to boom after she posted her first family portraits on Facebook. Word spread quickly, and, soon enough, she had a family to shoot almost every weekend.

Kluesner's favorite part of her business is the families' reactions when they see the pictures.

"I just want to have fun," Kluesner said. "I don't have a real goal. I just want to make the people I'm shooting happy."

As she gains more experience, Kluesner hopes that photography will become a fun side job in the future.

LOUD & proud

Lauren Johnson (10) wanted to create music in a different way than singing. She believes that musical instruments sound like one "big beautiful symphony."

For her, music is an escape place and a chance to express her emotions. She loves the atmosphere around her, including her friends in the band and her director.

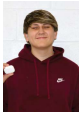

Shae Loecke (10) thought "hitting something would be cool," so he joined the band. Although he doesn't like performing much, mainly because he doesn't like the tux, he loves music.

Loecke plays several instruments, including the bass, piano, ukulele, and percussion instruments.

CAN'T GO without

"I can't go to school without my AirPods. They help me relax."
Gabe Drinkwater (10)

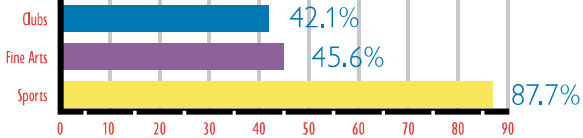

"I would be starving all day if it weren't for gum. Lunch sucks."
Aaron Dunkel (10)

"We can't drink from water fountains this year, so I definitely wouldn't survive without my water bottle!"
Chloe Hepke (10)
