

school choice bill will only harm public education in the state even more so. As the discussion of this law will certainly continue, the future of Iowa's education system remains uncertain.

The annual inflation rate for the United States is 6.4 percent for the 12 months ended January 2023 after rising 6.5 percent previously, according to U.S. Labor Department data, making the 3 percent increase to public education one that democrats have criticized the republican legislator for not being an increase that significant and that the 3% increase isn't keeping up with inflation.

Public Education

Funding

Polk County has 18 private school districts with 6,908 private enrollment, the highest in both throughout the state.

