

A ride on the fire truck is one of the highlights to homecoming for cheerleaders: Hannah Williams 18, Libby Gleason 15, Ashley Price 15, Shannon Stolen 14, Alesia Armstrong 15, Mikaela Upham 15 and Deziray Bridgewater 15. Alesia said, "All of the seniors held hands because it was our last float." [photo] Kristen Skow

Push To the Finish.

With the end in sight, Morgan Samard 16 tries to get her best time and complete the race strong. "We were at the Atkins meet," Morgan said. "Atkins is my favorite because it's flat, and I can get a good time because there are no hills." [photo] Brooke Boddicker

Sidelined. Injuries keep Kaedon Volz 15 and Brett Benson 16 off the field. Brett said, "It was difficult to think I could be out there helping my team but can't." [photo] Jessica Helman

Present. At the Central Clinton, DeWitt game, Stuart Tiedemann 18 said, "Football games are fun because of how big the crowd is." [photo] Mataya Hammes
Ice Donation. To support ALS, Ben Retz 15 and other show choir members complete the ice bucket challenge. [photo] Deziray Bridgewater
Act Alone. At the fall musical, Briann Brown 17 stars as the younger version of Princess Fiona. Briann said, "It was scary at first, but it eventually got better." [photo] Jessica Helman

MORE than...

A new beginning started as this book opened up, filled with five chapters of our year. However, those chapters made up more than just our memories, dreams, personality, history or passion. They demonstrated these attributes in our own individual ways. For example, in their free time, juniors Jordan Michels and Tucker Schroeder practiced dunks on the basketball court, which became more than a memory for these two. Libby Clark 17 made her academic goal of becoming a biomedical engineer more than a dream when she attended a summer engineering conference. Students showed who they were by being individuals who stood out. A perfect model of this was Luke Peterson's 17 self-confidence and how it presented itself and displayed more than a personality. Athletes like Alyssa Wiebel 16 maintained that same level of assuredness when she walked onto the basketball court or Sophia Gilbert 18 when she tied her running shoes and Keaton Sherwood 15 when he captured his 100th win at the first meet of the season. They produced more than history for themselves, their teammates and spectators alike. The drive it took to produce those outcomes was like "Shrek the Musical" cast members, including senior Anna Hagen, who rehearsed every night for eight weeks straight and proved theater life was more than a passion. The production was phenomenal and each show sold out. We were more than the chapters that defined us. We were more than a book.

MORE than a PERSONALITY

PEOPLE

We were more than people who were placed in a building for eight hours each day to learn. We displayed who we were in everything we did.

Matthew Gerhold 15 proved his talent as a vocalist when he sang the national anthem solo at the state wrestling tournament.

With her own hashtag on Instagram, [#mbfreshmen], Marisa Bieschke 18 documented her year in photos and displayed them for the world to see.

A car accident caused Alicia Huber 16 to power through her injuries. She recovered with a neck brace that she wore for eight weeks.

With an impressive three miles, Dylan Adcock 17 achieved his personal best with the longest wheelie on his bike.

Brittany Childs 15 took on a beautiful journey far from home after she graduated and found a job as a nanny the entire summer in Hawaii.

We dug deep when we had to and revealed ourselves in a way we never even knew existed. We were more than a student body. We were our own person and our character shined through. We were more than a personality.
