

Hawk Time

Students and teachers appreciate addition to schedule

By Hannah Hogan

Throughout the first semester of the 2015-2016 school year, students have been participating in a 25-minute advisor period specifically created for the completion of homework, re-testing, reviewing, and making up missed school work.

Once a month this period called Hawk Time is also used for "Harbor TV," a series of videos that promotes positive relationships among students.

The Building Leadership Team is behind the implementation of Hawk Time into this year's schedule. They are also searching for ways to make Hawk Time more beneficial for future students.

"Students like the fact of having built in time to help finish up work," teacher Corey Coates said, "especially if they work late or have extracurricular events the night before."

Through Google Sheets teachers can request for a student to visit with them during Hawk Time.

"Kids are so busy these days that it's hard for them to come in early or stay after school," math teacher Mary Wegmann said. "Hawk Time also allows for small group reteach and review."

The majority of students use Hawk Time for homework completion. A large number also use it for reviewing and taking tests.

"I usually get help from teachers for my classes," senior Coy Rousell said. "I wish I would have had Hawk Time my past three years of high school."

FFA CROP SHOW

Students Display Their Impressive Produce

By Ella Oakleaf

This year, one of FFA's activities included the crop show, where students brought in some of their best produce.

Contenders included Josh Hilby (10), Harrison Goebel (10), Laura Drummy (11), Luke Bandy (11), Leah Goebel (11), Brett Rausch

(12), Becca Hermann (12), and Alex Linderwell (12).

Hilby won first place for his soybeans. Goebel took first place for shelled corn, and Bandy received first place for his potatoes and pumpkins. Rausch earned first place for his corn silage, grass hay, and haylage, and Hermann received first place for her squash and oats. Linderwell brought in first place for carrots, beets, watermelon, and strangest vegetable.

The competition took place in FFA advisor Tammy Schneider's room after school on December 1st.
