CAPTURE[D]

Capture[d]. Defining moments in life are what create us. Every remarkable moment is captured in the memories that remain. Being captured feels like time seems to stop. Often, a captured moment is inspired by passion, a love for what we're doing, and when we're in that moment, nothing else seems to matter. When someone is captured, they are entirely encapsulated. No matter the emotion- bliss, rage, sorrow, excitement- a moment is captivating and the elements of a body can be present all at once, yet not at all. Sometimes, we can step away from the moment, and realize it's impact. Sometimes, it's not until years later.

Being captured is feeling, not thinking. Being captured is when everything else seems to fade away. Being captured is feeling like nothing else is real in that moment. A captured moment could be something simple, like hearing a favorite song on Spotify or finishing a good book that leaves you deep in thought. It could be moments where decisions are made that change our lives.

A captured moment may only last a second, but the impressionable memory could last an entire lifetime. Any figure in history had defining moments in their lives, and those moments in turn are what shaped the world. What may seem like such a small event to us, resonates into an outcome that could make history. High school is only a snapshot of our entire lives, but we don't want you to forget it, we want you to cherish it, to think about the moments that have made who you are. American artist Georgia O'Keeffe said, "When you take a flower in your hand and really look at it, it's your world for the moment. I want to give that world to someone else. Most people in the city rush around so, they have no time to look at a flower. I want them to see it whether they want to or not."

We are each made up of these single experiences. It's impossible to describe an existence all at once, to fit every single memory and perception into one sentence or photo. So, why not do so with a 176 page book? We hope that when you turn through the pages of the 2016 Newtonia, you are truly capture[d].

Moments that leave us capture[d]...

Getting lost in a new book

Walking across the stage at graduation

Getting ready for prom

Cheering on our football team under the Friday night lights

Getting your schedule for next year

Sleeping in on a two-hour delay

Receiving a good grade in a tough class

Taking a long walk on a nice day

Realizing you have so much in common with a stranger

Going home after a long day

Relief after completing finals

Singing on the bus with your teammates

Working toward a big game

Losing track of time with friends

Performing in a musical after countless hours of rehearsal
