Meet Edwin Alvarado

My name is Edwin Alvarado and I am a sophomore. Here at East we get a bad reputation of being a bad school because of our fights, people skipping as well as people dropping out. However, I know that they are wrong about our school. Here at East we have teachers that are willing to go the extra mile for us. We have teachers who will stay hours after school just because they want to see us succeed and graduate. We have teachers who actually care and I appreciate them and their hard work.

Meet Cinthia Amaro

My name is Cinthia Amaro and I am a sophomore. I think people view East as a bad place. They think that the students are a bad influence for others. Some parents think that their son or daughter won't get a good education if they go to East. We have a lot of good things happening here and most people only see the negatives. They should know that not all the students that come here are bad people or a bad influence. Parents should know that the education their son or daughter gets is also dependent on the effort they put into learning. The school they go to isn't at fault for them not progressing if they don't put their own effort towards learning. I think East is a much better school than what most people think.

Meet Tahzhae Burton

Freshman year was when I realized I really enjoyed theater and wanted to pursue a career in it. I got a lot of hate for it and for not playing football. I really enjoy being around all the people, they always have positive attitudes and smiles on their faces.

Meet Morgan Boery

I like going to East because we're a community inside of a community, we all bring everyone together and we all stand for one. There is always someone there to help you with whatever you need. The teachers, they're nice, I mean, we can have rude ones but were all here for each other. Personally, being in activities after school made me want to come to school and do better in school. Just knowing we're all here and were all helping each other and it's something not a lot of schools have.

Meet Chassity Arroyo

Orchestra is very important in my life. It gives me a peace of mind to just focus on music and not on any academics. The people who are in orchestra are fun and open, the environment is just overall positive with no drama. The teacher is very understanding and very trustworthy. I think that anyone who is interested should totally join. We are very friendly and welcoming.
