

Elizabeth Johnson

Maysie Johnson

Peter Johnson

Bryce Jones

Dawson Jones

Kayleigh Jones

Minela Kapetanovic

William Kaptain

Kerim Karaman

Michael Katzman

Merim Keco

Katherine Kelly

Kyzhailea Jones

Mason Jones

Konner Jurasek

Joel Kafer

Brandon Kantarevic

Indira Kapetanovic

Macey Kelly

Roland Kemp

Karlee Kendall

Carson Kenner

Jaden Kephart

Mattie Kern

Miranda Kerr

Tallie Kerr

Lauren Kiefer

Ana Kirkpatrick

Taryn Knuth

Camryn Korell

Josh Kraber

Jenna Krahn

Drake Kramer

Grant Kramer

Cole Kramersmeier

Evan Kramme

Arunmoli Krishnan

Anne Krone

Kaitlyn Kroner

Caleb Kuennen

Makenzie Kurth

John Kyhl

Riley LaFollette

Alaina Lampe

Canadian Calling

alexis rivett

When senior Alexis Rivett walked into the ACT testing center in Toronto, Canada, all she saw were hockey players wearing Ivy League sweatshirts. Rivett had been traveling to Toronto during school breaks since she was 14 years old. Her father was born and grew up in Montreal but now resides in Toronto. When she was a sophomore, she took the ACT in Toronto while she was there visiting her dad. "They all said they were going to attend an Ivy League school because they played hockey and that they would get a full ride scholarship," Rivett said. "I thought to myself 'I hate to break it to you but you're all not going to do that.'"

Rivett planned to attend University of Toronto in the fall of 2017 for International Relations and English. "University of Toronto is super diverse and they have many opportunities that colleges in the United States do not have," Rivett said. The University of Toronto offered her the experience of basically studying abroad for four years. "Also, the population of Toronto has people from all over the world and there is always something going on. The campus, however, was built in the 1800's so it is very old fashioned."

She believed the University of Toronto was the best place for her because no other college offered the same diverse opportunities and experiences. "College is about traveling and taking risks because it is the only time we do not have commitments to other people," Rivett said.

If you were moving, what one item would you take with you?

Her Cat

Photo & Story by: Bryony Whitelaw