Guess Who

[A unique activity spiced up the pep rally atmosphere]

A new twist to homecoming brought red faces to four football players but smiles all around for everyone else. Seniors Cam Touro, Quintin Taylor, Matt Gessner and Ben Twedt took the center floor for a new game called "Kiss and Tell."

Next, six cheerleaders stood by and blindfolded the boys. Each boy received a kiss and had to guess who kissed him.

Afterwards, the blindfolds came off and all four players were stunned.

"When I saw that it was my mom standing in front of me, I smiled and laughed," Ben Twedt 14 said. "I didn't think that the moms would go through so much trouble just to give us a kiss on the cheek."

The boys were surprised, but Sidney Volz 15 thought it was a great new added twist of events.

Sydney said, "I like the new idea because it was cute. The football players were actually surprised that it was their moms. I was shocked, too."

For the moms to be a part of the event was a nice and unexpected touch.

"The moms are dedicated to their kids. They always did a lot for the team," Jeremy Cassill 15 said.

Although the addition surprised most, it was a welcomed change and made the audience laugh.

"I was surprised because I really thought the cheerleaders were going to kiss them," Morgan Bossler 17 said. "It was definitely something new and spontaneous."

Kiss and Wonder. While mother Keri Touro plants a big kiss on Cam Touro's 14 cheek, he stands in wonder of who the kiss was from. "I thought that it was a pretty large kiss," Cam said. "I didn't really know what to think." [photo] Kelsey Garin
