

be involved.
Thoughts on the Lip dub....

"I liked the ending with the whole school. It made the video awesome!"
• Kenzy MacDonald (9)

"I would do it again because it brings everyone together and shows school spirit."
• Katie Phillips (11)

"It got the whole student body active, and I liked getting out of class."
• Josh Hellmann (9)

36 By Emily Thole & Abby Tjaden

earning an A+.

On the morning of March 5, autos teacher Jason Guyer was in for a surprise.

A former West Delaware student nominated Guyer for the KCRG A+ for Education Award that recognizes teachers who are excellent in education. "KCRG walking in the shop that morning was the very last thing I ever thought would happen," Guyer said. Guyer was honored to be singled out among all of the great teachers at West Delaware.

Current students still believe Guyer is one of the best. "He is just fun to work with and funny to be around," said Mitch Ryan (12). Guyer was awarded a trophy and a $250 prize presented by Meteorologist Charlene Malin. "Receiving the award from KCRG was a very humbling experience," Guyer said.

Glowing with surprise, autos teacher Jason Guyer receives the A+ for Education Award from KCRG's Charlene Malin.

1. Holding two metal butterflies, Michael Cole (10) poses with his Metals II project. "My favorite thing to do is grinding (metal cutting process)," Cole said.

2. While creating a table in Woods class, Aaron Thole (9) sands down his board.

3. During a car inspection, Austen Burrigge (11) and Austin Boyd (11) check the oil.

fixing up the breakdowns

3. Noah Lindauer (10) Devin Smith (10) Logan Marsden (9) Caleb Whitman (10) Nathan Teumer (12) & Seth Brokens (12)

Travis Dake (10) and Tyler Miller (12) punch holes in metal for drilling. "I like making new things," Miller said.

foods class fanatics.

Helping out in the kitchen, Tiffany Duwe (11) prepares a batch of bow-tie pasta.

"I like looking at new recipes for the 'Take n' Bake', trying them out and spicing them up."
• Tiffany Duwe (11)

Examining nutrition labels, Carlee Ketchum (10) helps prepare food for their annual 'Take n' Bake'.

"Foods is fun because you get to meet new people and you get to eat a lot of food."
• Carlee Ketchum (10)

creating works of art.

1. Prior to the WaMaC Art Show, Auriana Jones (11) helps display various drawings. West Delaware received three first-place awards, two second-place awards, and one third-place award.
2. Preparing for the West Delaware Art Show, Ashlee Lewis (11) hangs paintings. The art show displayed all art students' pieces for parents and guest to see.
3. Proudly posing, Amanda Kupka (10) smiles next to her art work. Kupka placed second in the WaMaC Art Show for her painting "Horton."
4. Working on his drawing, Michael Liberman (11) adds the finishing touches. "Art is something that is fun and cool," Liberman said. "There is nothing like it."

37 April