

EATS, COLORS, SADD inform public about current issues

PHOTO BY MEGHA PATEL

educate the masses

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

LISTENING IN:

Anneke Thorne '16 and Angie Kalwies '16 react to other members' stories about coming out. "I joined COLORS because my brother is gay so it has always been a big part of my life," Thorne said.

SEARCHING FOR A RIPE APPLE:

Rebecca Wen '14 plucks Jonagold apples at Wilson's Apple Orchard Sept. 22. "Every year, EATS visits Wilson's and we pick tons of apples to cook with and eat," Wen said.

ENCOURAGING RECRUITMENT:

Paicheal Petty '14 tries to rally students to join her club. "COLORS is a great group where you can meet a variety of people who won't judge you," Petty said. "You feel free to be yourself."

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

PHOTO BY MEGHA PATEL

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

SHARING STORIES:

Seniors Jacob Kinlein, Alex Fraley and Oskar Martin listen to other members' stories about coming out.

JOINING IN DISCUSSION:

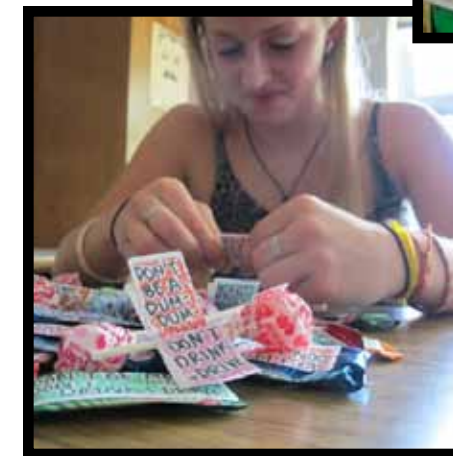

Margane Jambor '16, Hannah Twitchell '15 and Emma Twitchell '17 discuss LGBT rights Oct. 9.

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

PHOTO BY OLIVIA EWING

GHOSTLY FACEPAINT:

Kristina Bauer '14 paints the face of Kalee Waldron '14 as a reminder to not drink and drive for Homecoming. "The grim reaper shows how many people drinking and driving can affect," Bauer said.

IN ANTICIPATION:

Bailey Ryan '14 prepares candy for the SADD booth at the club fair Sept. 5. "I am excited for the fair so more people can get moved [by others' stories]," Ryan said.

TAKING A STAND:

Jeremy Hu '16 wears a T-shirt in support of standing up against bullying, especially for LGBT rights Oct. 25. "Even though I'm gay, I've never been bullied but I've heard of people who have and I wanted to support the cause," Hu said.

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

PHOTO BY NIDHI PATEL

DECONSTRUCTING THE DISPLAY:

Annika Kopf '17 and Allison Clements '14 take down the SADD display for Homecoming. "I joined [SADD] because I felt that I could make a difference by spreading the word," Kopf said.

THE GRIM REAPER:

Bailey Ryan '14 hands a scythe to the grim reaper, Alex Grady '14, for Homecoming. "I wanted to make a difference by informing people about drinking and driving," Ryan said.

THE PIERCING GLARE:

The sun does not bother Kate Anstreicher '14 as she waters kale after school Sept. 7 at West's garden. "This summer has been really hot, so it was hard getting things going in the garden. Still, I'm proud that we are donating fruits and vegetables to the cafeteria," Anstreicher said.

SPLISH SPLASH:

Megan Kann '16 waters a pear tree after school Sept. 6 at an EATS meeting. "It is very important that we do what we can to protect it [the environment], starting small with a club like EATS," Kann said.

PICK, PLUCK, AND POP:

An afternoon stroll through the garden turns into a tomato treasure hunt. Megha Patel '14 selects ripe tomatoes after school Sept. 6 at an EATS club meeting. "I really like picking tomatoes because I feel like picking a handful and popping them all in my mouth," Patel said.

WITH EASE AND PRECISION:

Olivia Sheff '15 picks ripe tomatoes Sept. 7 after school. "It's really fun to work in the garden again. And I'm really happy that we donate the produce we grow to the cafeteria," Sheff said.

110 Clubs/Academics

EATS/COLORS/SADD 111