The Class of 2014 gears up for success

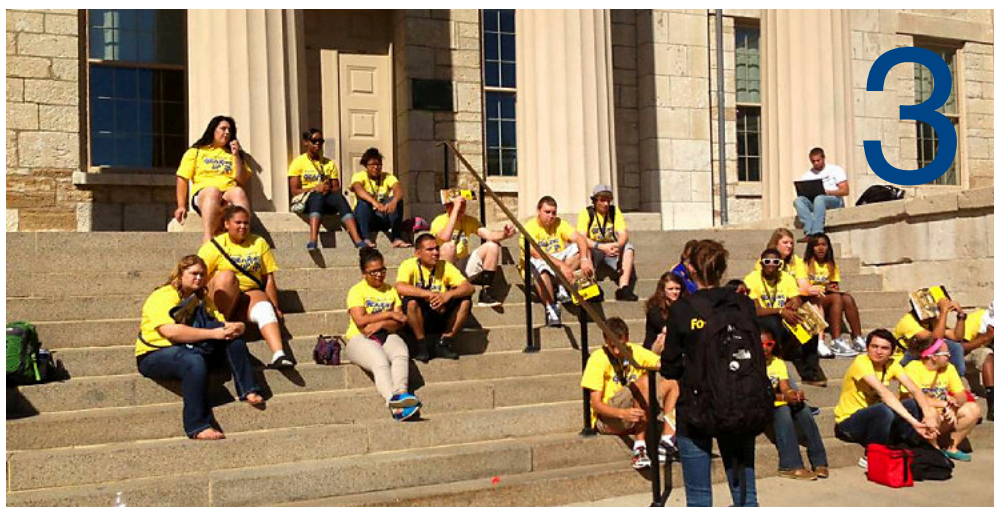

Rewing it up

1. On the way to the bookstore at The University of Iowa, seniors Kammie Haynes and Breezy Williams show off their Wildcat pride as they gear up for college. "While in the bookstore, I purchased some Hawkeye gear because I'm considering attending The University of Iowa," said Williams.

2. While touring the campus, Herky jumps into the group for a photo, for fun, and for Hawkeye spirit. "I've been to University of Iowa three times and saw Herky the third time and even got a picture with him. Yet my sister went there for four years and never got a pic, so I think you should enjoy the little things and take a breath from all the books," said senior Mitchell Potratz.

3. Sitting on the Pentacrest steps, seniors listen to reasons for attending The University of Iowa. "The seniors took advantage of a great opportunity and we all had an awesome time on this trip. It got many of the students excited about post secondary education!" said Gear Up Interventionist Ms. Megan Chelf.

"At first about going to the University of Iowa Gear Up, I was kinda iffy; but once I got there, the tour was really informative. I liked the campus size, and the homey atmosphere because how everyone knew each other," said senior Troy Koshal.

"After the visit at the University of Iowa, I made up my mind that I definitely want to go there after Scott because the people always had a positive attitude and the campus was nice," said senior Traci Cavanagh.
