

The life of a student is chaotic, full of fun, and sometimes stressful. But it is always important to break away from the norm of the typical student life.

Kierra Pauly, Bailey Brinck, Ki Horner

Photo by Brenna Peterschmidt

Breaking

The academic life of a student can be overwhelming and challenging, so it is important to come up with strategies such as studying, in order to break away from the occasional struggle that you can encounter in academics.

Lany Burke

Photo by Shelby Kemper

The life of a student can be hard when it comes to trying to be yourself. Some students break away from the mold and let their authentic selves shine, daring to stand out amongst their peers.

Jacob Goldstick

Photo by Olivia Hoening

Away

The life of a student athlete is exhausting, and hard. It consists of determination and practice. Breaking away from the fear of failure and trusting oneself and your team all adds up to conquering the athletic obstacles placed in your way.

Nicholas Guzman; Derek Tallman; Jeremy Maldonado; Jared Kester

Photo by Jayme Bigger